

Dr. Shawn Wijesinghe, MD, FACEP is a highly experienced and board-certified emergency physician with a specialization in pediatrics. He is also one of the co-founders of Siena Pediatrics, a medical practice dedicated to providing medical care to children in the Las Vegas/Henderson area.

With over 23 years of experience, Dr. Shawn has been a trusted medical professional in the Las Vegas community. In the late 2000s, he played a crucial role in establishing and managing the St. Rose Siena Pediatric Emergency Room, which aimed to provide specialized emergency care for children.

Throughout his career, Dr. Shawn has worked at various emergency departments in the Las Vegas Valley, including the UMC Pediatric ER and Summerlin Pediatric Emergency Room. His expertise in both pediatric and adult emergency medicine has allowed him to provide comprehensive and specialized care to children in urgent situations.

In addition to his work at Siena Pediatrics, Dr. Shawn currently serves as the Assistant Director for the VA Emergency Department. He also works as an Emergency Room physician at the VA Emergency Room in Las Vegas, where he contributes to the care of veterans and helps meet their healthcare needs.

Dr. Shawn's extensive experience and expertise will be invaluable in providing excellent medical care to the children at Siena Pediatrics. He will be involved in the sick care of the pediatric patients, and he will also assist in the implementation of same-day sick visits and an extended hours clinic, which will be available starting in the fall of 2023.
